

The economic activity is divided in three groups called sectors:

- Primary
- Secondary
- Tertiary.

PRIMARY SECTOR

The primary sector works with raw materials.

Raw materials are materials taken directly from the nature.

The main activities are:

Agriculture: is the production of food, feeds (piensos) and fibres using plants.

Farming: is breeding and taking care of animals (livestock) to obtain food and fabrics.

Fishing: Is taking fish from the water to obtain food.

There are two types of fishing:

- Coastal fishing (using small boats near the coast)
- Deep-sea fishing (using big ships far from the coast for a long time).

Forestry: taking care of forests to obtain wood and some food.

Mining: is the extraction of minerals and other materials from the Earth.
