

THE SECONDARY SECTOR

The primary sector obtains raw materials (materia prima) from the nature.

The secondary sector uses these raw materials → to create other products.

There are two types of product making:

Craft workers (Artesanos): Humans use their hands and materials to make products.

Industrial working (Industriales): Industries make hundreds of products on one day.

They use machines to make their work easier.

In the secondary sector the products are manufactured (manufacturados), processed (procesados) and constructed (construídos).

The main activities in the secondary sector are:

Automobile industry	Textile industry	Chemical industry	Engineering
